

We move on the world's most powerful dataset of human motion

With the largest fleet of mocap systems in the market, we collect motion data that exponentially improves our ability to distill digital movement through machine learning.

